ECHOES Of C. L. H.

1953

CAMP LIBERTY HIGH SCHOOL

JENKINSVILLE, SOUTH CAROLINA

In preparing the following pages we, the Echoes of C. L. H., have striven to bring to you the spirit of Camp Liberty High School---our classes, activities and fellowship. If in future years it seems a pleasant reminder, then this annual has accomplished its purpose.

THE STAFF

ALMA MATER

We Sing of Thee Camp Liberty

Our love for thee dear school, is more than we can ever tell-
Camp Liberty, O, our dear Camp Liberty!
And we will sing of your portals through the many, many years-
Camp Liberty! - Camp Liberty
Each flower that brightly blooms, will tell of loyalty and truth.
Each bird that flutters pass, expresses gratitude of youth.
And tho' the years may pass, our mem'ries ne'r will wane of you.
Camp Liberty! - Camp Liberty!

With-in your gates so pure, we played and loved and worked and learned.
Camp Liberty, O, our dear Camp Liberty
Our heads held high with pride, of credits that we strove to earn
Camp Liberty! - Camp Liberty!

When life has mellowed with the ripening of your age in years.
When thoughts of thee, dear school, will fade away all foolish cares.
Then we will know your name will stand forever as it shares-

FREEDOM OF LIFE! - CAMP LIBERTY!.

Dedication

We, the Seniors of '53', proudly dedicate this edition of the Echoes of C. L. H. to Mrs. M. M. Willingham, French, Social Studies and Mathematics instructor, and twelfth grade advisor, in appreciation for the valuable contributions to our school and to our lives;who has inspired us by her capable leadership and who respects and understands our shortcomings.

CLASS HISTORY

In September, nineteen hundred and forty-nine, one early beautiful morning several buses rolled into the yard of Camp Liberty High School. Thirty-eight shy little members stepped off the bus and walked into the waiting doors of the school to begin a high school career.

After receiving our various assignments, we found high school life somewhat different than we had anticipated. Early in the school year, the class of 1953 held its first official meeting with Miss J. T. Woods as class advisor and elected the following officers: President, James R. Shaw; Vice-President, Melvin Cook, Secretary, Nellie Rae Collins; Assistant Secretary, Dorothy Thompson; Treasurer, Lelia Mae Trapp; Reporter, Bobbie Lee Triplet.

The class was very active in participating in all school activities. We presented a very complimentary class play, entitled: "Don't Be Bashful." One of the varsity basketball menbers came from this class, in person of Addie Mae Williams. The four highest ranking students at the end of the first semester included the following members of our present class James R. Shaw, Samuel Cook; Alberta Yarborough and Bobbie Lee Triplet. This was the largest Freshman class in the history of the school.

Our sophomore year witnessed a slight change, as thirteen new members were enrolled; and we were divided into sections. Hereby, we were given two groups of class officers. However, we still worked together, and had another successful year, under the supervision of our class advisors and competent presidents. We were determined to become outstanding in our work. At this time two girls and one boy played on the varsity basketball teams; and several members achieved the membership of the Honor Society. Several of us connected ourselves with the Glee Club; and are now considered experienced members of that club.

Being Juniors the next year, we were the Senior competitors - and best friends. Very early that year we met with our advisors, Mr. P. A. Beatty and Mr. W. J. Heath to organize our class as follows: President, Samuel L. Cook; Vice-President, Wilbert Crumblin; Secretary, Bobbie L. Triplet; Assistant Secretary, Margaret Boyd; Treasurer, Maceo Hollins; Reporter, Lillie B. Crosby.

Everyone worked very diligently and cooperatively. By this time we had three new members, who were manuvering delightfully on the varsity basketball team. The outstanding event of the year for our junior class was the "Junior Senior Promnade." It shall never fade from the memory of our class; and it will linger many years in the minds of others. Four members joined our family in persons of Naomi Burrell, Alonzo Ashford, Constance Robertson and Eugene Boyd.

And This .... our last year ... is marked with anxiety and anticipation. This is the largest graduating class in the history of the school. We met with our advisor, Mrs. M. M. Willingham, at the beginning of the year, and elected the same persons as officers with two additions: Chaplin, Lillie B. Crosby; Business Manager, Isaac Martin.

As we stand on the threshold of graduation, we pause to pay gratitude to those who have labored with us through the years. Your guidance and efforts will serve as a sure foundation for us in our subsequent accomplishments.

Class Prophecy

After serving ten years as successful diplomat to England from the United States, I was given a two month leave. Hence, I decided to look up some of my old classmates. While visiting the University of Paris I saw Naomi Burrell and Bobbie Lee Triplet busy preparing a thesis for a Ph. D. in French.

Upon arriving in New York City, I met Roberta Ashford who was Office Assistant to Samuel Cook, Principal of New York's largest high school. They carried me around to the Roxy Theater where Bernice Guinyard was playing a leading role in the biggest hit on Broadway. At Columbia University, to my surprise, was Wilbert Crumblin serving as Professor of Social Science. Just across the Hudson River were Dorothy and Adell Baten, still single, but successfully operating a Day Nursery. Head of the Y.W.C.A. of this great Metropolis is Jessie Belle.

Across the state line in New Jersey, Isaiah Glover is pastor of a large Episcopal Church. While there I went to see a game between the "Globe Trotters" and one of the state teams. Imagine my surprise when I found as Manager, Maceo Hollins and as Booking Agents, Lark Keller and James Pete. At the train station in Newark, New Jersey, I met Lillie Mae Eubanks who was coming to represent the University of Southern California at an important conference. Discussing the activities of some of our classmates, I was informed that Addie Mae Williams was considered the best model of the latest fashions in Hollywood.

Arriving in Philadelphia, I met Dorothy Crumblin who had set a new world's record typing speed, and was an illustrator of Children's Books. Dorothy Thompson, and Geraldine Young were partners in the largest dress factory in Philadelphia. All of us were astonished when we found Genola Thompson as Librarian at Temple University.

From there I decided to travel by bus to Pittsburgh. Walking up to the window, I purchased my ticket from none other than Floyd Copeland, owner of the bus terminal. Working as Ticket Agents were: Jerome Coleman, Alonzo Ashford and Isaac Martin. Upon arrival in Pittsburgh, I learned that Dora Lee Cook wss reporter of the gossip column for the Pittsburgh Courier. Riding around the city by bus, I just happened to aboard a bus driven by Charlie Mack Davis. Odell Baten had just discovered a new metal and was doing some experiments at the University of Pittsburgh with Johnnie Thompson assisting. From them I learned that William Fridae and John H. Coleman were two of the most successful cattle farmers in Texas.

In Washington, D.C., Margaret Boyd was serving as the first Negro woman senator. To the wife of the President, Constance Robertson served as personal maid and Mildred Guinyard as Private Nurse, having obtained her R.N. from John Hopkins Hospital. Clotell Collins is to be sent to represent our America at the Olympic Basketball Games in 1963 as left guard.

Coming south, I found Tena and Marion Coleman partners and owners of a nice Beauty Salon in Durham, N. C. In South Carolina Carolyn McDaniel, Lodesta Willingham and Daisy Lee Irby were married to business men and had large families.

I could not leave this beloved state without visiting dear old Camp Liberty High School. To my surprise, I found a new edifice covering acres of land. Going inside I found Lillie B. Crosby assisting Miss Finch in the Home Economics Department and James R. Shaw, Head of the Science Department.

Sadly leaving this sphere, I returned to England to resume my responsibilities as diplomat.

Class Poem

If we stop to look back on the years,
In our short lives, would we see tears?
Would we see the progress we've made,
Or the hopes of continuity fade?
Have we made up our minds to go on,
Or just stop right here and moan?
Is there any future in a hault?
No! We must go on without a fault.

To the teachers who've stood by our sides,
Who walked before us to save our pride,
Who have watched every little move we've made,
To keep our minds from the shade.
And now to them we'll say good-bye,
Although we must say it with a sigh,
We are parting but this is not the end,
We feel that we'll meet again.

To our principal and school so dear,
Whom we admired without any fear,
We the class of "53" will not fail,
For we'll follow the same old trail.
We'll have to say good-bye to you,
With bleeding hearts so brave and true,
Farewell dear Camp Liberty,
We'll remember Thee with loyalty.
